the Third precinct proved highly satis-factory, and it will be continued through-out the dry season, but it will not be confined to the Third precinct. The Second precinct will come in for attention at once, as the shade trees are suffering in many places in that section of the city from the lack of irrigating water. Ie seems to be a standing joke in Condie's office as to what becomes of all the water that Land and Water Commissioner Westerfield continues to crowd into the water pipes. The ordinary needs of the city amount to not over $,000,000 gallons daily; Hines and Westerfield state that almost twice that amount is running in each day, and still there is a cry for more in all parts of the city, while there is none at all for irrigation outside of the pipes. There are some people getting the idea that there is a leak somewhere, either in the water pipes or the figures. fined to the Third precinct. The Second

VICTIM OF MAYFIELD SHOOT-ING IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

Three Places, Will Probably Recover-Was Domestic in Salt Lake. (Special to The Herald.)

Manti, Aug. 2.—Miss Campbell and P. C. Christensen, who were shot by Rasmus Anderson on Thursday, will recover, it is believed, though both are still in a serious condition.
Today Drs. Dewan of Manti and Andrews of Gunnison decided that it was necessary to amputate Mr. Christensen's arm, which had been shattered by a bullet. They amputated the arm and the patient is doing very well, though his condition is much worse than first believed. Pieces of the shattered bone were found in Christensen's buggy. Mr. Christensen, who was one of Sanpete's representatives in the last legislature.
The message's ent by young Anderson that brought Miss Campbell back from Salt Lake, was sent from Manti. In Anderson's pockets were found letters to the effect that the young woman had deceived him, and showed indirectly that he intended doing something desperate. The tragedy occurred about one mile from the Gunnison depot, and during the excitement which followed the shooting young Anderson was lost track of, and was supposed to have made his escape. Later on, however, his dead body was found not far from the spot where the shooting occurred.

The body lay near a clump of trees with the muzzle of the rifle between the literally blown off.

Miss Emily Campbell, the young woman is is believed, though both are still in Miss Emily Campbell, the young woman who figured in the tragedy at Mayfield, it was learned yesterday, was employed at the residence of E. B. Critchlow at 430 South Seventh East street, in the capacity of a domestic while she was in the cliy. It was learned at Mr. Critchlow's residence last night that the young woman came to the city about a month ago and has been so employed since shortly after her arrival. On Wednesday she received a message, supposedly from her home, telling her that her mother was dying, and urging her to come home as soon as possible. The girl believed the message to be genuine and took the first train Thursday.
